A Japanese nishinoya toro or lantern made of solid granite is notable for the elegant roof line and crown shaped like a lotus bud. decorates the central table light compartment featuring a flower stencil window and pierced holes. A bulb can be added to illuminate it, lighting pathways and entrances. The granite surface type is pineapple grain. Our garden elements (basins, granite lanterns, stones, and Japanese cobblestones) are usually stored outside. Indeed these elements may present patina and an ancient aspect (lichen and moss), which give them an additional authenticity charm. This aspect is commonly really appreciated in the traditional Japanese garden sphere. This model, called zendoji gata is little common and it is rare to find it in Japan. Guy Maillot chose to introduce it to his customers.
