Description

Picea jezoensis — Japanese Spruce Bonsai

Discover this exceptional Japanese Spruce bonsai, aged over 50 years, with a graceful and sinuous trunk (Moyogi style). The tree measures 970 mm in height with a branch spread of 900 mm, planted in a high-quality, handmade unglazed antique grey ceramic pot (450 x 380 x 100 mm). Key Features: Mature bark showcasing the tree's age and health Robust and highly resistant to cold climates Ideal for traditional bonsai styles like formal upright and cascade Fine, delicate needles with dark green and slightly silvery undersides Care Instructions: Light: Full sun to partial shade Soil: Well-draining, fresh, slightly acidic to neutral Watering: Keep soil moist, avoid drying out Pruning: Annual needle and branch trimming to maintain shape, with thinning recommended Repotting: Every 2-3 years, preferably in spring, sourced from Hokkaido, Japan, and Kamchatka, Russia. Perfect for: Bonsai enthusiasts seeking a durable, elegant specimen with a refined texture and classic style. Display table not included. Photographed August 2025.
