Description

Japanese Granite Lantern – Replica of a Kyoto Temple
Magnificent Japanese garden lantern made of genuine granite, with a total height of 160 cm. This exceptional piece, inspired by traditional Kyoto temple designs, is composed of six carefully carved and fitted elements ensuring perfect stability. Details of the elements (approximate dimensions in cm): Lotus flower finial (top part): H 20 × Ø 18 Roof: W 70 × 65, H 12 Light chamber: Ø 33 × H 23 Section below the chamber: W 45 × 40, H 12 Column: H 71 × Ø 25 (top) tapering to Ø 15 (base, conical) Rosette attached to the base: Ø 40 Pedestal: W 60 × H 25 Total weight: approx. 350 kg. The lantern is pre-drilled to allow an electrical cable to pass from the base to the chamber, making it easy to install lighting. This rare model, both in Europe and Japan, is a faithful replica of a Kyoto garden lantern, produced as a special edition by Guy Maillot. Our garden elements (basins, granite lanterns, stones, stepping stones, etc.) are generally stored outdoors to encourage a natural patina of moss and lichen, giving each piece a unique, time-worn authenticity highly valued in the art of the traditional Japanese garden.
